

Assembly

Welcome to the Game of Pyramid Pyramids. The game is constructed by your self, piece by piece will be glued together and a Pyramid game will be formed. The Pyramids and Tetrahedrons are folded by you to which are die cut. Fold and then apply glue. The gloss paper is the outer apply glue carefully. Pyramids and Tetrahedrons are assembled as see from the package.

You apply glue to the outer lips as four on the Pyramid and three on the Tetrahedrons. Its best to lightly smear the glue on the outer lips then wait for glue to settle. Hold the lips together for moments assure it holds place. It takes time to construct the pieces. Clean your hands if you have to and assemble the Pyramids and Tetrahedrons carefully.

Pyramid Game Rules.

The Pyramid game is played by choosing a first player with a toss of coin. The first player will take the top piece. The first player chooses the direction for all players. Each player takes a piece and you continue to take a piece or pieces until one player creates a small Pyramid in front of self.

When a single Game is played the pieces must be returned to the centre pyramid the last pyramid wins first next play. The winner chooses direction and return of either one or two pieces to speed up the game. If you create a small Pyramid you win a point the last player wins choice of play and the game continues until one player wins more than four games as put on the score pad.

I will gladly make note of any differences as you suggest on the website feel free to comment to make improvements of the game and rules. Feel free to write on the website. It is a game to be created and played by all ages is simple as it is. After all it is a Pyramid Game and gives great satisfaction to all that purchase it.

The rules are simple and the future of the games will be created in different ways and from a positive point of view the games will create an instinctive structure for difference and with good reason. Enjoy the game it's not scientific otherwise it is a game that created its own path. Play the game with good intention and open mind.

Thank you Philo
